TILLMAN STILL IN SPOT LIGHT.

President's Expose Centers Eyes on Him.

Colleagues Now Awaiting His Explanation.

Senator's Health Breaking Under Strain.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—No subject has been so discussed at the Capitol as Senator Tillman's disclosure of Senator Roosevelt's disclosure of Senator Tillman's connection with a Federal land grant, but the colleagues of the South Carolinian are inclined to withhold judgment until he has had an opportunity to explain.

Many expressions of dissatisfaction are heard because of the manner in which the President made public the material gathered by the postoffice inspectors about Senator Tillman. It is pointed out by Senators that the matter sent to Senator Hale was not in response to the latter's request to the heads of the executive department for a statement of the operation of the secret service, as the investigation of Senator Tillman's alleged efforts to obtain Oregon lands was wholly under the Postoffice Department, and was prosecuted by the inspectors of that department.

One Senate leader expressed the opinion that as the President had forced the disclosure of the material gathered about Senator Tillman, it was to inaugurate an investigation if he believed the facts warranted action.

It was rumored today that the President had told a friend that an effort was made by Senators to advise Aldrich to suppress the facts about Senator Tillman. Undoubtedly this impression was gained at the White House by virtue of Mr. Hale, who suggested that the Senate should not let Mr. Tillman be withdrawn.

It is said that the Maine Senator did not have the request upon the ground that it was not properly a responsibility of the secret service, though it is well known that the Pacific Coast people would prefer that the naval portfolio come to their section because of the important navy interests.

Another expression of the feeling that there should be a Jew in the Cabinet, Secretary Straus's friends believe he will be retained as Secretary of Labor. The President-elect is said to have asserted that he does not propose to make any movement in life in America that are legal complications which might have to be settled in Washington.

Richard A. Ballinger is to be the lucky man and his name is to be connected with the secretaryship of the interior, though it is well known that the Pacific Coast people would prefer that the naval portfolio come to their section because of the important navy interests.

There is no question that Senator Tillman's ill health is serious. When he went to Europe last March he was in a highly nervous state. The trip was a complete improvement, but his friends have noticed that his nervousness was returning.

IMPROPER ONLY.

Some of the Senators who have examined the evidence say the offense was one of improbity and indiscretion, but that no criminality is involved. It was said that Mr. Tillman might have introduced his resolution calling upon the Department of Justice to begin proceedings to condemn the Secretary of the Oregon lands at $1.50 an acre, in accordance with the original land grant and at the same time apply for some of the land without making him the target for criticism.

To many of Tillman's friends the most feature of the disclosure most depicted is the appearance of an effort to hide the fact that he was an apologist for the nine quarter-sections under the terms of the original grants. In his statement last February the Senator said he had not bought any western land nor had he "undertaken to buy any."

Two statements submitted by the President shows that prior to this statement Mr. Tillman has made application for nine quarter-sections. Defending himself against the appearance of having made a misleading statement, Senator Tillman told his friends today that he should have said on the floor that he has not "contracted to buy any land, and that the whole of the land which had been built upon the interpretation placed upon the word "undertaken."

CABINET GOSSIP.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) President-elect Taft deliberately unloading all the personal appurtenances and inheritances of Roosevelt and getting ready to emancipate himself entirely from responsibility of his past, has telegraphed to his Cabinet and to Frank Hitchcock, the effect of incoming such gossip, Senator Knox, on his return from Augusta, rather grimly hinted that any candidate, who has personally withdrawn from the President-elect, might find after all that he was not on the list and this intimacy may have some effect in restraining Cabinet talk by people who were really advised.

George W. Wickham, the New York lawyer and legal partner of Henry Taft, the President-elect's brother, has been mentioned in connection with the Attorney-General. But it should be noted that Senator Knox is a potent influence with the President-elect, and that he has a feeling of the highest regard and admiration for the abilities of Solicitor-General Hoyt, with whom he was in intimate relations during his own occupancy of the office of Attorney-General.

It easily may be believed that he would urge Hoyt's selection if it developed that Wickham's appointment was found to be inconsistent from the very fact of his business connection with the President-elect's brother.

The fact being conceded that the Pacific Coast is to be represented in the new Cabinet, cause great weight to be given to the suggestion that the whole of the Cabinet should be built upon the word "undertaken."

FAREWELL TO TEDDY BEAR.

"Brer" Possum Will Success
Him in Toyland's Flecks Favor.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ATLANTA (Ga.) Jan. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "possum craze" following the request of President-elect Taft that the marsupial be served at the banquet to be given him by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, has become so pronounced that several Georgians propose to turn it in a commercial direction.

A company is being formed which proposes to manufacture "Billy Possum" toys, and to put them on the market as successors to the "Teddy Bear." It was in Mississippi that the "Teddy Bear" had its origin and Georgia proposes to confer similar distinction on the next President by bestowing on him the appellation of "last friend and international advocate of Brer Possum."

Two Georgians who propose to put "Billy Possum" on the market think there is lots of money in it. They say the immense popularity of Taft will insure a general demand. Artists who have been consulted say a taking toy can be fashioned in similitude of Brer Possum.

PORT HURON (Mich.) Jan. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the cause of all the events at Rattle Run which have marred into a murder was the half insane desire of E. H. Carmichael to secure an exciting plot for a thrilling novel, it is believed. Late evidence supports the theory that both principals in the supposed tragedy are still alive.

That Miss Carmichael and Browning were seen together in an east bound train from Port Huron was the statement made by Miss Clara Wagner, and by Miss Annie who lived for many years near Rattle Run and who was acquainted with both men.

"We waited the train at Gondella, and came from Port Huron, Thursday night," said Miss Clara Wagner, "and saw Carmichael and Browning on the platform. I think he was in a fever over our story. I think he believed that the pastor recognized us for the couple he had written about."

"When we reached Port Huron we went into the depot and a few moments later the pastor came in, gave us a smiling glance, and hurried out again. I heard Carmichael preach a sermon only three weeks ago and do you know that I could be mistaken?"

"It is not believed here that the minister was in the hole affair with Browning in order to secure the manuscript for a book of the dime novel type, but the fact that he had written about it at this kind recently strengthened the theory."

"It is believed that the pastor wished to kill the police officer in the hole, confident that any woman by him after eluding the police would have an enormous male."

"The pastor arrived at the hotel when their arrival. Thursday night he made a speech. It is thought that he will 'double back' on his way to Chicago.

DETROIT, Jan. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Rubenewich, aged 22, told of fatally wounded Bertha Yablonovsky, aged 22, and then shot herself shortly afterward in a hospital. The tragedy was the result of a woman's love. Miss Rubenewich was in love with another girl. As she gasped for breath in the hospital, she said: "I love until that young woman leaves me. She loved me, but when I began to love her, she changed. Her love was not the same, and she loved him."

Yablonovsky, who lived in the Rubenewich home, was in love with the man mentioned. He was the Yablonovsky's fifteen-year-old boy who had been missing from his home at Clifton Heights since last Monday afternoon, was discovered this morning in Jones Woods, along Darby Creek. It was at first thought that the boy had committed suicide, but this is not believed by Coroner Carr, of the Clinton Police Department. The boy is reported to be a graduate of the school.

After a few moments' conversation with the coroner, the boy started by two pistol shots through the lungs. Miss Yablonovsky said this in a note to the police.

She did not to disturb any of my relatives. My body is prepared. At any rate I am not ready for death.

Yablonovsky was the only child of the room occupied by the Rubenewich documents and one of the person's most hectic books.

Editorial Box Points

Although last year was a leap year we fail to see that it made much difference.

COUNT BONI de Castelane can at least show his scorn for the French courts by refusing to pay the costs.

Mr. Carnegie is such a cheerful little man that we sometimes find it difficult to believe that he is Scotch.

Egg shells are used as gas mantles in Germany. Only the rich would be able to use them in this country.

According to last week's reports every State on the weather map was frozen stiff except sun-loved California.

In deciding to go into the Senate instead of the Cabinet it appears that Mr. Burton of Ohio prefers troubles to honors.

The centennial of the man who invented the harvester also occurs this year. He is by no means to be overlooked.

Montana Indians are reported to be starving. Not since "buffalo days" has it ever been much different for them.

In the preparations for Taft's inauguration it is too much to hope that Washington will omit the usual sleet and snow.

The teeth of a small are on its tongue. We have known people—mostly women—who seemed to have tongues like that.

The man who first produced "Floradora" on the stage is now a bankrupt. The mills of the gods finally deliver the goods.

Mr. Pulitzer of the New York World declares himself "a chronic invalid;" but that's not what Col. Roosevelt called him.

Science now asserts that paleolithic man lived in Ohio. We'll bet if he did he was always running for President or something.

Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Iceland have granted the franchise to women. All of them are countries that need warming up.

The London News speaks of "James S. Palmer, Vice-President-elect of the United States." Why, that's not the man's name at all, is it?

A hen in a New Jersey town laid eggs in an automobile. She might have had the decency to lay them in some poor man's wheelbarrow.

Sieges of war frequently destroyed portions of Messina in the past. It remained for the siege of the earthquake to destroy the city entirely.

Strange to say, if the average citizen were told that the present State Legislature would do nothing it would be a pleasant outlook to contemplate.

The Hon. Champ Clark has declared that the average price of a woman's hat is $5, which statement merely shows how ill-informed a Congressman can be.

An Oregon paper states that Senator Jonathan Bourne is "a man without common ability." It is perhaps unnecessary to state that he is also a Populist.

A sky-scraper church is to be built in Pittsburgh. We are glad to hear that some kind of a church is to be built in a town that seems to need churches so badly.

We judge from the accounts printed in the papers that there are lots of places where a man could enjoy himself more than in the Kansas penitentiary.

The Sicilians who are left will still cling to their sunny hillsides upon the now scarred slopes of which Paul once preached the message of the Carpenter's Son.

An eastern paper remarks, apropos of Mr. Taft's visit to Panama, that he is not an engineer. Well, he can't be everything; only one President was that.

Perhaps the most serious objection to taking up a residence in Oregon is that an outsider could scarcely hope to learn to pronounce the names of the towns and counties.

A famous opera singer gave plum puddings to 100 poor children in London at Christmas. As far as can be learned they have since pursued their usual diet of wind puddings.

A man in Waukegan, Ill., has written 7600 words on a postal card. If he sends it to a town that has a woman postmaster the patrons will have to wait for their mail till the next day, at least.

Unfortunately as it is for Mr. Bryan that he is a Democrat, it would have been still more unfortunate for him had he been a Republican, because then he would never have been heard of.

Mugwump journals like Harper's Weekly are horrified to think that the cost of the Panama Canal may reach a billion dollars. What of it? It is only as much as one American citizen is worth.

Several plans have been suggested for the "spanking of the President" by Congress, but none of them include a suggestion to send a member of Congress personally to the White House to perform the act.

A beautiful English woman is to present King Edward with a huge diamond. If Mrs. Edward were just plain that instead of Her Majesty the Queen, there would be a big row kicked up, and don't you forget it.

TILLMAN'S PREDICAMENT.

Senator Tillman has been one of the most aggressively censorious fault-finders in public life. He has been the beau ideal of the noisy and self-assertive pharisee in politics. Nobody, male or female, or neuter, black, white or dark brown, has been immune from his pitchfork. He has not hesitated to assail any reputation. He has proclaimed himself with stentorian "cockadoodie-doo" as the unselfish protector of the rights, safeties and properties of the people. His love for the "dear peepul" has been asserted as often and as ardently as has that of our humorous friend, Tony Schwamm. But it appears that Tillman is not unlike other vociferous champions who attack themselves so vehemently to the "dear peepul" and seek to attack the "dear peepul's" goods and chattels unto themselves.

All reports indicate that the President has treed Tillman—has treed him with the chattels on his person. We do not assume to convict him off-hand, as we have too often, too long and too earnestly protested against conviction by assumption, by clamor, by jumping to a conclusion. But it looks as though the great Carolinian apostle of populism, of referendumism and recallism, of free trade and of corporation baiting, has been guilty of something worse than graft and akin to extortion—as though he deliberately and for a price prostituted himself. Unless he can clear his skirts, whatever unorthodox usefulness he may have had is departed. Arrogance and bellowing will not save him. The fact that he lords it over his own State will not be of avail to him, so far as any influence at Washington is concerned.

We wonder if some of the belligerent Senators and Congressmen have not come to the conclusion that they made a mistake in inviting this quarrel with the President? They were itching for a fight and they are getting it. A perspective and a cool temper are conducive to the impression that Roosevelt is scoring. Why should any honest Congressman object to an inquiry into his official acts? If a secret service sleuth becomes obnoxious and goes too far—and rogues who are set to catch rogues often exceed all limits of decency—the Congressman has his recourse. But in the popular mind this question sticks like a burr—why should any official, conscious of his own rectitude, find fault with a proposition that his accounts be audited in behalf of the public?

BUILD BIG SHIPS.

The Times does not pretend to be able to settle the question as to how many ships a year the United States can build with its present income. Last year the President wanted four ships, but the Senate would stand for only two. We thought the reasons assigned by the Senators probably good, as business conditions then existed.

The matter is up again and the navy men and the President demand ships superior to any afloat. What they ask is the largest displacement, the strongest armor and the heaviest guns. Again the Senate is said to be responsible.

The navy and the President are right. It is not numbers but weight that count in a sea fight. The English Dreadnought in the midst of a score of ordinary ships would be like Jim Jeffries in a corner with a mob of boys in front of him. We should have ships of the most effective type. We always have had such ships since we were first a nation. A hundred years ago we built wooden ships which sailed faster, came about quicker and poured hotter shot into an enemy than anything else afloat. We seldom met a hostile vessel without taking or sinking her. If we met more guns than we had we could shake a pair of heels so fast that they quickly carried us out of reach.

Today we have no ships with which we would dare fight one of the monsters of the latest English type, but we ought to maintain the traditions of our past. We should have not merely ships as good as any; we should have the best.

We seldom met a hostile vessel without taking or sinking her. If we met more guns than we had we could shake a pair of heels so fast that they quickly carried us out of reach.

The navy and the President are right. It is not numbers but weight that count in a sea fight. The English Dreadnought in the midst of a score of ordinary ships would be like Jim Jeffries in a corner with a mob of boys in front of him. We should have ships of the most effective type. We always have had such ships since we were first a nation. A hundred years ago we built wooden ships which sailed faster, came about quicker and poured hotter shot into an enemy than anything else afloat. We seldom met a hostile vessel without taking or sinking her. If we met more guns than we had we could shake a pair of heels so fast that they quickly carried us out of reach.
